09:45 Key-note speech by Ms. B. Frankinet, Permanent Representative of Belgium to the UN in New York: State of play of the Post-2015 UN negotiations and the place of Social Protection therein.

The main negotiations on the post-2015 agenda take place in New York. The general state of play of the post-2015 negotiations and the dynamics and subjects that take hold of New York will be presented. As Co-Chair of the Group of Friends on Decent Work, Ms. Frankinet is also ideally placed to draw up the place that social protection is taking in the debate.

10:15 Networking break

10:45 Session I Expert Panel: Why Social Protection in the post-2015 agenda

Panel Members:

Ms. I Ortiz (Keynote), Director Social Protection, International Labour Organization

Ms. K. Roelen, Co-Director Centre for Social Protection, Institute of Development Studies

Mr. R. Delarue, Deputy Head of Unit A4 External Relations, Neighbourhood Policy, Enlargement, IPA, DG Employment, Social Affairs and Inclusion, European Commission

Ms. M. Sepúlveda Carmona, Senior Research Fellow, United Nations Research Institute for Social Development.

Although social protection is a human right, three quarters of the world's population remain without adequate access. The panel will discuss the synergies between social protection and the objectives and targets of the post-2015 agenda, e.g.: tackling poverty and inequality, ensure healthy lives and well-being at all ages, promote inclusive and sustainable economic growth, build up resilience towards economic, social and environmental shocks and promote peaceful and inclusive societies. The panel will focus on the importance of universal coverage of comprehensive social protection systems by 2030, including contributory and non-contributory schemes, to achieve developmental objectives.
